

CLIL in VET

Madeira Island, Portugal

This is a 56-day course (*). Below is the proposed Agenda for the course in Madeira Island.

Language used for the training: English.

Target group: VET teachers, primary teachers, secondary teachers, headteachers/principles, deputy heads, future head teachers, trainers, councilors, researchers, politicians, and other stakeholders.

Description: This course appears as a result of the Erasmus+ KA2 project "CLIL in VET" (2018-1-SK01-KA202-046321), which took place between September 2018 and July 2021. The course has been designed to provide tools to prepare European teachers for a future that happens today.

"It was necessary to search for other ways how to improve language learning and connect it with the world of work. One of relevant tools usable in any vocational school is the CLIL approach. It does not meet as strict professional and administration requirements on schools as a bilingual study programmes. However, not many vocational schools have ideal conditions for its implementation. Some schools have difficulties with CLIL methodology, others with language skills and competences of teachers, most of them miss teaching and learning materials or they have no experience. There is a very specific group of schools that would like to use CLIL but do not have a necessary portfolio. The main objective of this project is to enhance the quality of VET via bringing innovations, sharing and exchange of best practices that will lead to creation of an inspiring and motivating portfolio supporting schools to launch the CLIL approach even in the background of practical learning."
